Mr. Johnson, who is ex officio auditor of the City School Board, was much puzzled yesterday as to what action he should take relative to the payment on the school nds. Interest in the sum of $43,455.82 becomes due July 1, and a little more than one-third of this is payable in New York. For prompt settlement the checks should have been mailed yesterday, but with the school bond cases now pending before the Supreme Court, Mr. Johnson said he was fraid to make payment until the decision s rendered.

The Inspectors Upheld.

The Board of Works yesterday took decisive action relative to the poor work charged against the street-sprinkling contractors. In each district of the city the bills for sprinkling were reduced by 5 to 25 per cent. forfeitures under the contracts. The contractors made complaint that the inspectors had unjustly accused them of improperly performing their work. The natter was investigated and the deductions made in spite of the protests.

Complaints Were Numerous.

A large number of complaints were made yesterday to the City Board of Health and to the street department relative to the condition of the sewers, which, after the hard rain of Tuesday, were insufficient clogged. The complainants said the streets in many places were filled with stagnant posed of William de Jean, violinist, and Messrs. Emil and George Neumister, guitar players. Their first selection was "Whistling Rufus," but the giving of an encore was unfortunately prevented by Mr. De Jean breaking his violin. The most pleasing numbers on the programme were those furnished by Miss Louise K. Tutewiler, whose splendid soprano was heard in two "coon" songs, "My Lady Lu" and "I'm One of the Family Now." Mr. Harry D. Tutewiler sank his new patriotic song, "The March of the Flag Goes On," with such good effect that he responded to an encore with a clever vocal takeoff on the recent dismissals of patrolmen by Czar greatly with two recitations. Messrs. Frank and Ben Otto, Harry Shimer and Master tion of an original poem, "Old Glory," wi? a large-sized American flag as a background. Edith Pfaff, another charming little girl, gave a recitation. Little Alva Shue and Little Nora McClanahan appeared in a dialogue in which two dolls figured prominently. Alma McClanahan and Winifrede McHugh also gave recitations. George Strieble, a young man wearing a full-sized mustache, afforded considerable amusement by speaking a juvenile "piece" and for an encore related a negro's experience n a burning house. Miss McElwaine sang 'The Little Room Where Baby Used to Sleep." Quite a number remained after the exercises and indulged in dancing until a late hour. Mr. Hubbard stated that these entertainments are given at intervals of about a month. MEETING OF STATE COMMITTEE.

Republican Organization to be Called Together Shortly. Warren Bigler, secretary of the Repub ican state committee, returned to the city yesterday, after a brief sojourn in the East, where he went to attend the national convention and take a few days rest. After the convention Mr. Bigler proceeded, with his wife, to New York, and spent several days in and about New York city. He says he talked to many New Yorkers and all appeared delighted with the ticket nominated at Philadelphia. Mr. Bigler thinks there is no possible chance of the Democrats carrying New York. Secretary Bigler will be in charge of af-fairs at committee headquarters while Chairman Hernly is attending the reunion of Rough Riders in Oklahoma and the Democratic convention at Kansas City. After the Kansas City convention the work at Republican committee headquarters will be prosecuted with renewed vigor. The state committee will meet some time during the week following the convention, and the executive and advisory committees wil be selected. The advisory committee will consist of one man from each congressional district. During the last campaign the executive committee was composed of seven members. This year it is proposed to increase the number to nine, although some members of the state committee are in favor of making the number thirteen. Other members argue that this would make the committee unwieldy and that better work can be accomplished with a smaller committee. It is probable that a committee of nine will be selected. The date for the meeting of the state committee has not yet been selected.

Action of the Supreme and Appellate Courts Yesterday.

The Supreme Court yesterday dismissed the appeal in the case of Rhoda Stewart vs. the Marion Trust Company, receiver of the Washington Savings and Loan Association. In this case it was sought to get a decision as to whether dividends paid to the holders of prepaid and paid-up stock in a building association, after it has become insolvent, may be recovered by the receiver of the association. The appellee in the suic against the Shelby County Council yesterday filed a petition for a rehearing. It is sought to compel the council to make an appropriation for the purchase of schoolbooks and clothing for poor school children during the next school year. A judgment ordering that such appropriation be made was reversed by the Supreme Court last week. The Appellate Court yesterday affirmed the case of John H. Jessen vs. George Pierce and others. The court held that a ider of Barrett law street improvement bonds cannot foreclose the lien of the as-

CHRIST CHURCH IMPROVEMENTS

Architect's Plans Inspected by the Vestry.

The vestry of Christ Church held a meeting last night and decided that the piedges already received are sufficient to warrant steps toward beginning improvements at an early date. At the meeting the plans of Architect J. N. R. Lamb, of New York, contracts will be let for the new structure. The improvement is to cost $25,000, and will consist principally of a new and complete parish house, Sunday-school room, kitchen, extension of the chancel, rearrangement of the organ, enlarging the choir box to accommodate forty voices and increasing the seating capacity. Besides these improvements there will be a general remodeling and refurnishing of the whole building and the setting of art and memorial windows. One thousand-dollar memorial window and one to cost $250 have already been spoken for.

FOR THE KINDERGARTEN

AT WASHINGTON PARK.

A Baseball Game, a Concert and Zouave Drill the Attractions.

The crowd that gathered at Washington Park yesterday afternoon to contribute a quarter of a dollar to the Free Kindergarten fund and be amused by a varied programme was much smaller than anticipated, but none the less enthusiastic. The crowd was entertained in a very satisfactory manner with a ball game in which Capt. William E. English displayed his strength in the pitcher's box, a concert by the Boys' Brigade Band and a drill by Capt. John Fox's zouave company. The women were greatly in the majority, but there were enough men present to lead in the applause for the ball players. Among the ladies were many who had never seen a baseball field before, and they of course wanted to know why there wasn't any grass where the pitcher stood, why the bats were so large, what business the umpire had to do with the game, etc. There were women in the refreshment stand who waited upon the customers, and when business became dull they called up the boys of the band and zouave company to partake of the lemonade, guaranteed pure, and pop regardless of color. There were also women stationed at the gates, who would allow no one to pass unless they showed a yellow ticket or the equivalent in money. In fact, the women took charge of the entire programme and even called Musical Director Peck back from the land of "nod" to furnish music when he was enjoying a

The Insurance Feature of the Board of Trade Should Be Changed.

The insurance feature of the Indianapolis Board of Trade is one of the things which D. M. Parry, the new president of the board, proposes to reform. To a Journal reporter last night Mr. Parry said: "I have been devoting considerable study to and two, of this city, have decided to go | the insurance feature of our organization and I can see many inequalities and injustices in it. We have five hundred members, all of whom carry a policy of insurance, and that makes belonging to the Board of Trade a pretty expensive thing. This is particularly true when you reflect that there are many men in the organization who are well along in years, and these are dying off. The payment of so many death losses makes it pretty hard on the considerable number of younger members. It is not fair, in my opinion. For instance, do you think it would be just that you, a young man, should be compelled to accept a policy on exactly the same terms which are granted me, who am somewhat further advanced in life? I intend to rearrange the membership in two classes, to be designated as 'A' and 'B.' Class will have the benefit and the expense of insurance, while Class B will be exempt. This will afford an opportunity for the exercise of an option in the matter of in-surance and it will also remove the objecions which now exist."

COST OF THE SQUARE

Judge Baker yesterday approved the report of the appraisers who fixed the prices of the property last fall and this report was also sent to Washington. The next step taken by the district attorney will be to ask the court for a decree vesting the title of the square in the government. The court fixed the amount the government is to pay the New Telephone Company at $13,800.

Receiver About to Be Discharged. An order was issued by Judge Baker yesterday directing the receiver of the Indianapolis National Bank to carry out the instructions he has received from Washington, and then he will be discharged. He has been directed to send to the controller of the currency the unclaimed checks for dividends, all proof of claims that have been filed and the receiver's receipts and certificates. The affairs of the Indianapolis National Bank are about wound up, and when the receiver has complied with the order of the court the case will be stricken from the court docket.

They got on a Shelbystreet car, and just as the car started Byron Harvie's transfer blew out of his He made a dive to get it and fell out on the pavement under the wire guard on the left side of the car. His right leg was fractured just above the knee. He was taken to the City Dispensary and later to his home at 1005 Huron street.

Beginning July 1 Acting Postmaster Shideler has arranged for an extra delivery of mail each week day to the manufacturing and business concerns on Shelby and Sanders streets. The manufacturers along these two streets sent in a petition which they say they are now getting but two deliveries a day and that mail coming to the postoffice after the carriers leave on the morning trip reaches the factories too late for attention the same day.

Col. Williams in Town.

Roger D. Williams, of Lexington, Ky., senior colonel of the Kentucky militia, who was in command of the soldiers at Frankfort following the killing of William Goebel, was in this city yesterday.
